Portfolio Management Process

We are value investors and we seek opportunities that are available at times when stocks are temporarily priced below their intrinsic values. Because prices tend to return to their true values over the long term, this investment style can produce favorable results for patient investors. In addition to buying stocks at below their intrinsic values, we focus on good businesses. By good businesses we mean companies that are profitable, earn high returns on capital, generate free cash flow and possess competitive advantages over the competitors.

Because we seek to provide advisory services only to long-term investors who have a time horizon of three to five years, we tend to structure similar portfolios for our clients.

Trading of registered investment adviser

- a) Pre-Clearance. Firms such as Motiwala Capital LLC, with only one access person are exempt from obtaining preclearance.
- b) Initial and Annual Holding Reports. Firms such as Motiwala Capital LLC, with only one access person are exempt from reporting, but they must keep records of holdings and transactions. The record must show the name of the security, the quantity owned, the date of the transaction, whether the security was purchased or sold, the price, and the name of the bank or broker-dealer through whom the transaction was effected.

- c) Conflicting Trades. No employee or access person shall purchase or sell, directly or indirectly, any security in which he has, or because of such transaction acquires, any direct or indirect beneficial ownership, if the person knows at the time of purchase or sale that the security
1. Is being considered, or within three days preceding the proposed transaction has been considered, for purchase or sale by any client; or
 2. Is being purchased or sold by any client, or was purchased or sold by a client within the three days preceding the access person's transactions;
- or
- However, an employee or access person may participate as part of a "bunch" order with clients simultaneously purchasing or selling a security. The Adviser must determine that, for each transaction, bundling is consistent with best execution and no client is favored.
- d) Blackout Period. No employee or access person shall purchase or sell a security during a period of three days before and three days after the date on which a client for which he or she is portfolio manager or co-manager, engages in any purchase or sale in such security.
- e) Initial Public Offerings. No employee or access person may purchase, directly or indirectly, any security in which he has or because of such transaction acquires, any direct or indirect beneficial ownership and which to his actual knowledge at the time of such purchase or sale, is subject of an initial public offering.
- f) Private Placement. No employee or access person may purchase, directly or indirectly, any security in which he has or because of such transaction acquires, any direct or indirect beneficial ownership, if such transaction is not in the open market, or if such transaction is made pursuant to any exemption from the registration provisions of the federal securities laws.
- g) Principal Transactions. Neither the adviser nor any employee nor any affiliate may effect a transaction as principal with a client.
- h) Short-swing trades. Securities may not be purchased and sold, or sold and repurchased, within 14 calendar days.

Trading Practices

- a) Best-execution obligations. Advisers have a fiduciary duty to seek to obtain the best net price reasonably available under the circumstances. Unless clients object, we use InteractiveBrokers ("IB") to execute our trades. IB offers the best price. Since our investment philosophy is based on a long-term investment horizon, speed of execution is not relevant. Also since all of our security research is done in-house, we do not rely on any research from the brokerage houses.

- b) Soft dollars. The term “soft dollars” describes a brokerage practice in which investment advisers use client brokerage commissions to pay for services such as research, IT equipment, economic analysis, and publications. We do not engage in any soft dollars arrangements.
- c) Allocation of aggregate trades among clients. Aggregate trades may be performed if
 - 1) Prior to entering the aggregated order, the adviser prepares a written statement specifying the participating client accounts and how the order will be allocated;
 - 2) If the order is partially filled, it will be allocated pro rata;
 - 3) If the allocation differs from the written statement, the reason for the difference will be explained in writing and approved in writing by the firm’s compliance officer no later than 1 hour after the markets open on the next trading day.

Anti-Money Laundering (AML) Policy

It is the policy of the firm to prohibit and actively prevent money laundering and any activity that facilitates money laundering or the funding of terrorist or criminal activities. Money laundering is generally defined as engaging in acts designed to conceal or disguise the true origins of criminally derived proceeds so that the unlawful proceeds appear to have derived from legitimate origins or constitute legitimate assets. Generally, money laundering occurs in three stages. Cash first enters the financial system at the "placement" stage, where the cash generated from criminal activities is converted into monetary instruments, such as money orders or traveler's checks, or deposited into accounts at financial institutions. At the "layering" stage, the funds are transferred or moved into other accounts or other financial institutions to further separate the money from its criminal origin. At the "integration" stage, the funds are reintroduced into the economy and used to purchase legitimate assets or to fund other criminal activities or legitimate businesses. Terrorist financing may not involve the proceeds of criminal conduct, but rather an attempt to conceal the origin or intended use of the funds, which will later be used for criminal purposes.

The Chief Compliance Officer has full responsibility for the firm's AML program.
